17th MIBAS DEBATE ON CSR

The average German throws away 82 kilos of unused food every year, much of it preventable waste that impacts the environment and the economy. What are the effects of this waste and are the results of throwing out food beneficial? Where can we find solutions to this waste and who are the main perpetrators? Could collecting or reducing Food Waste provide extra money in our pockets and reduce environmental pollution? Under the guidance of Professor Dr. Daniel Geiger, these topics and many more will be discussed between students of the Masters of International Business and Sustainability program as well as the leading experts of Food Waste.
